

HWK NEWSLETTER NO. 4 - MIDSUMMER 2007

Dear All,

As we approach the zenith of the year it seems like no time has passed at all since we sent out our first newsletter at Imbolc, nearly five months ago.

May has been the busiest month yet for us at HWK, and although it hasn't all been plain sailing, we have learned a lot and gained from the experience. The two May Bank Holidays proved to be less successful than we had hoped, although I think I will always cherish the sight of Bex, wreathed in a plastic sheet and looking like an angry ghost as she tried to set out our stall at the Kingston Green Fair despite the howling winds and pouring rain!

You will soon be able to read all about our exploits at the Kingston Green Fair and see pictures in our blog.

The highlight of the month for us both though has to be our Crafts Evening at Treadwell's Bookshop in Covent Garden . Many of you came out to play and it was lovely to see you. Our favourite comment of the evening came from Julia, who says not only does she buy nothing but HWK soap these days, but she feels that they have changed her life! It's nice to be so appreciated.

Look out for additions to our online range in the coming weeks, as we launched a range of goat milk baths at the party, which are now available both at Treadwell's Bookshop and through our website.

Finally, no newsletter would be complete without a mention of our next sabbat soap. Our Midsummer soap is now available online and in Treadwell's Bookshop, in plenty of time for the occasion. We showed you a sneak preview of this soap at the party, and it promises to be popular, with its moisturising sunflower and soothing calendula infusions. Die hard fans of our shapely soaps might also recognise the scent as being the Frankincense and citrus essential oil blend we use in our Buddha Bar.

Well the soap pot calls so we will say goodbye for now but please take care, and keep in touch. We do love hearing from you.

The Rebeccas

<http://www.hedgewitcheskitchen.co.uk>

Please Note:

You are receiving this newsletter either because you signed up at one of our workshops or you expressed an interest in hearing news about the Hedgewitches' Kitchen. If you would like to unsubscribe you can do so at any time by clicking the link below.